The Alligator Chopper cuts sticks and cubes measuring 1/4” (6x6 mm) but is especially great at dicing onions, since the top not only keeps everything neatly contained but also helps block the fumes from reaching your eyes.

The Collectors cleverly place what is chopped in one spot. Mesh screen fits onto each base and can be lifted to free any trapped food for easy clean-up.

The Alligator® is the brainchild of innovator Benny Engdahl, who got tired of chopping onions when he was making his favourite dish – Oeland dumplings filled with pork. They require large quantities of potatoes and chopped onions, and everyone knows that chopping onions is a tearful affair, but it need not be any longer.

Benny Engdahl contacted his friend, graduate engineer Nikola Knezevic, who became responsible for the technical development of the product. The name Alligator came when his cousins 8 year old daughter said about the prototype: “Daddy, it looks just like an alligator with it’s jaws open!”... and the brand name was a fact.

For almost 20 years Alligator has been designing products that help simplify people’s lives. Today Alligator offers products for food preparation.
