Dear Colleague,

We are delighted to update you about the 7th Dilemmas & Debates in Colorectal Surgery Conference which will be held from 14-18th December 2019 at Bush House, King's College London, WC2R 2LS. The meeting will once again be organized by The International Society of University of Colon And Rectal Surgeons \(ISUCRS\) and King's College London (KCL).

Our theme for this year's meeting is 'Surgical Innovations'.

- On the Saturday 14th December there will be an Advanced Laparoscopic and Robotic Course which will run all day at Weston Education Centre, King's College Hospital 10 Cutcombe Rd London SE5 9RJ. Limited places of 20 will be available to suitable applicants.
- On the Sunday 15th December there will be a taTME Masterclass which will take place from 13:00 at Bush House.
- The main conference will be held from Monday 16th - Tuesday 17th December at Bush House. There will be sessions addressing difficult situations, controversies and problems in colorectal surgery which will be attractive to a range of home and international based professionals from multiple disciplines. Furthermore, we will be including into the programme our usually lively and entertaining debate session covering topical issues in colorectal surgery. For the first time at DDCRS we will be including a session on natural orifice specimen extraction surgery (NOSES). On Tuesday 17th the programme will include live surgical cases under the theme 'Surgical Innovations'.
- On the Wednesday 18th a number of all-day surgical workshops/courses will be held at Bush House. These include Proctology Masterclass, Anophysiology & Endorectal US course & a Complex Abdominal Wall Reconstruction Masterclass.

Up-To-Date detailed provisional programmes for the main conference event from the 16-17th December 2019 and the masterclasses/courses may be viewed at www.ddcrs.org.

Submit a paper or video presentation – deadline Monday 23rd September 2019.

So why hesitate? Join us in December 2019 in the heart of London for not only another fantastic educational meeting, a great networking opportunity and also an opportunity to enjoy London with pre-Christmas shopping or perhaps a theatrical show at the West End!

Yours sincerely,

KING'S
